9. Report on Faith and Freedom

Nigel Clarke: there has been a rise in subscribers 12 in past year and F&F has had good publicity from the theology conference. Thanks to all who have made this possible. Highlights have included the publication of the 2018 GA address by Paul Rasor. F&F is very interested in book reviews. Publishers often quote F&F reviews and editors are keen on using F&F especially for interfaith books. F&F would like photo contributions. The web site is very important www.faithandfreedom.org.uk F&F is financially stable, with good North American subscriptions. Horwich Chapel on its closure also sent a substantial donation. What's next? Social media advertising could be really useful to F&F but hasn't been used yet. The calendar is a pleasure and really useful for putting up a hand for new readers. This is great teamwork and very clearly a nourishing pleasure to work on — its message is so pertinent to the modern world, especially with environmental themes. Nigel thanked all for their help and support and would love more connection across the movement. The Daniel Jones Trust is for educational and literary elements and its grants go to The Inquirer and Faith & Freedom. It is based at HMCO. Thanks given by our Chair to David and Nigel. Thanks to the Emeritus Editor Peter Godfrey.

10. Dates & Charges of 2020 conference

22 - 24th June. Not yet aware of changes to charges. Thanks to the College for the support of the conference at cost price.

11. Suggested Subjects for 2020

Liberal Religion in Europe today. How can we keep useful connections?

Modern liturgies across faiths and new practices in liturgy. Practical ministry exploration.

The suggestion is to look for expertise within the movement as well as including someone from Europe.

Evelyn Underhill commemoration 2021.

Proposal that we write and invite help and support.

12. Report to the Inquirer

Michael Allured

13. MOSA Service and Opening Devotions for 2020

Our President Alex Bradley should make this choice.

14. AOB

PPSU: Winnie Gordon, on behalf of the Past and Present Students Union of Luther King College, has written asking for collaboration with MOSA in uncertain times. She has asked for an initial conversation. Ann Peart suggests that we think about the relationship between MOSA, PPSU and the Ministerial Fellowship. Jim Corrigan offers the note that there has been a suggestion that PPSU and MOSA merge. This is hard because of the dependence of MOSA on HMCO, but cooperation could be useful. Martin Whitell purposes that the practical aspects of making time might be difficult. Maud Robinson also reflected on this. Daniel Costley asks if we can work with Winnie Gordon to look at options.
